DRANKFIELD AT WORK.
ANOTHER KENTUCKY TOWN AR-RANGING TO MAKE THE
MOST OF GREAT NAT-URAL ADVANTAGES.
TAGS.

$100,000 Company Organized to Build up the Town and Develop Its Resources—Fifty Oaks
Ore to be Built.

This excellent location for an industrial city is about to be brought to the front by business men in a business way. The land has been secured by a company of $100,000 capital. It is S. M. Deane, J. P. Smith, J. W. Field, H. H. Deane, and R. M. Conway as incorporators, has been organized and from now on, Drankfield will be found up towards the head of the procession of growing towns in Kentucky. The activity and surroundings are very luxurious, the climate is fine, and the place was visited by several of the finest springs in Kentucky. Six months ago, Drankfield was only an old field, with no house or store. To-day there are thirty houses and thirty-two stores. The land company yesterday let a contract for twenty new houses. They are also erecting a store house, and have let the contract for a large twenty store hotel.
All to be completed in thirty days. The company have one shaft down to coal, and are working fifty men day and night. Another shaft will be sunk at once, employing the same number of men. It has been demonstrated that all the coals known in this country, black and steam, and domestic coal, are in this country. It is worthy of note that in chemical composition Drankfield cooking coal more nearly resembles that of the celebrated Connellville, Western Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee or Alabama. It is the nearest cooking coal to Louisville and also the nearest coal coming out of the Louisville basin. It is the Connellville cooking coal, and tender to large deposits of business men. It is a coal that will burn in the city. The coal has already been tested here and proved to be excellent.
"I can't help but say," said one of the men, "that this coal will be sold to Louisville parties, who intend to send 4000 tons out of Drankfield if the coal stands the test."

The company are laying their land out beautifully with wide streets and allies, are grading and digging the streets, and planting shade trees on both sides of each street. With life as Drankfield already has, and the great industrial progress that Kentucky is making, there seems to be no reason why this place so abundantly favored by nature, should not fully rival the successful growth which has made Middlebourne and Pineville so widely known all over the country.

Drankfield enjoys every superior natural advantage and if the initial work be followed up wisely and well, a large industrial city will be materialized. The trouble with many movements of the kind just inaugurated at Drankfield arises from over confidence in nature and resources.
It should be borne in mind that towns, unlike farms, are not made, but made.
It is a matter of congratulation that the men in charge of this Drankfield movement are not amateurs, but men of affairs who are thoroughly awake to the importance of supplementing natural advantages, with push, energy and liberality.
In town building, as in everything else, success depends upon the style in which it is done.

When they say, "We go for Drankfield," they mean a city, not a town. They mean the town that will be a rival of Louisville.

To Consumptives.
The undersigned having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease, Consumption, he wishes to make known to his fellow sufferers, that he will cheerfully send them a copy of the prescription used, and will also send them a bottle of the medicine, same. He will also send them a bottle of

THE SUICIDE CLUB.
But one of the Melancholy Members
New List.
Brentwood, Conn.—Wendell Baum, the Secretary of this unique organization, has been elected to his position, and has fulfilled the membership agreement by killing himself. The history of this activated society is one of intense interest to the student of morbid psychology.

Four years ago five citizens of Bridgeport, all Germans, met and when they were rather low spirited and half drunk, they decided to form a club. The club was organized the next day. The agreement was that each member should kill himself once a year, one next, and so on until all were gone.

This agreement has thus far been faithfully kept. When the annual meeting was held in January there were only two members to attend, the Secretary and the President. It was proposed at this meeting that the club should be dissolved, as it was no longer of any use. The President, however, refused to do so, and the club was reorganized. The next year there were three members to attend, the Secretary, the President, and the Vice-President. The Vice-President was elected to his position, and the club was reorganized. The next year there were four members to attend, the Secretary, the President, the Vice-President, and the Treasurer. The Treasurer was elected to his position, and the club was reorganized. The next year there were five members to attend, the Secretary, the President, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, and the Auditor. The Auditor was elected to his position, and the club was reorganized. The next year there were six members to attend, the Secretary, the President, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, the Auditor, and the Secretary. The Secretary was elected to his position, and the club was reorganized.

There being no better way to settle the question it was mutually decided that each member should kill himself once a year, one next, and so on until all were gone. The club was reorganized. The next year there were seven members to attend, the Secretary,
the President, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, the Auditor, the Secretary, and the Treasurer. The Treasurer was elected to his position, and the
there were eight members to attend, the Secretary, the President, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, the Auditor, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, and the Treasurer. The Treasurer was elected to his position, and the
there were nine members to attend, the Secretary, the President, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, the Auditor,
the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, and the Treasurer. The Treasurer was elected to his position, and the club was
ten members to attend, the Secretary,
the President, the Vice-President, the Treasurer, the Auditor, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the

the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the Secretary, the Treas-
